The story of Xiaochen

On one evening last winter, it snowed heavily. After school, Xiaochen rode bike home. On his way home, he noticed a driver was in trouble. The driver's car couldn't move. When Xiaochen saw this, he went up to help the driver push the car at once. However, the car was so heavy that it still couldn't move. Xiaochen didn't give up. At last, they succeeded in moving the car with the help of the police.

The driver was so moved that he thanked Xiaochen and the police. Xiaochen was titled "Good Person of Hexi" because of his kindness. We are so proud of him. What a moving picture! It's kind of him to help people in need. In my opinion, we should learn from him to help others when they are in trouble.

First of all, we should learn to control our diet and it's a good idea to eat some low-fat food, like fish, fruit and vegetables. Besides, we had better drink more water. She advises us to drink at least eight cups of water so that we won't feel hungry easily. And remember the ways of exercise we choose must be fit for us, such as running, swimming and doing yoga. Also, don't forget to plan our time properly, so we can get into good living habits. Above all, it's necessary that we have a strong will to keep doing it.

Last Friday, a kind of activity called Festivals in China was held in our school English Club.

Quite a lot of students took an active part in it. Besides, we also invited two foreign students who are studying in Tianjin to take part in this activity because they have great interest in Chinese culture. Our history teacher introduced a few different festivals to us, including their origins, backgrounds and customs. Most importantly, we can experience Chinese traditional culture on our own. For example, some of the students learned to make paper cuttings as well as lanterns, others learned to make dumplings and so on.

I believe this activity is so meaningful that everyone can have a better understanding of China through this activity. As students, we will study hard at all subjects in order to spread more Chinese culture to the world in the future.

Dear Peter,

How are you? I have a moving story to tell you. One morning, three boys went to school on foot as usual. Suddenly, they saw a black car overturn on the other side of the road when crossing the road. Soon the black car began smoking. Thinking it was very dangerous for the driver, they ran to the black car as fast as they could. However, the driver couldn't come out of the car. The three boys tried their best to open the door of the car. As a result, the driver was saved. Luckily, he was safe. At the same time, some people came to help as well. The three boys left silently.

From my point of view, we are supposed to learn from the three boys. As a teenager, I hope I can join them. It's our duty to help others when they need.

Do you have a story to tell? Hope to hear from you.

Yours,

Li Hua

Dear mom and dad,

I am writing to tell you about an exciting trip in Harbin. On January 26th, my friends and I flew to a beautiful city in China, Harbin. There we visited the Harbin Ice and Snow World and saw lots of big and wonderful ice sculptures. We also tried different ice sports, which were great fun! And we watched a traditional show by the Oroqen people. Harbin food was also very delicious and I love it! At last, I was lucky to get a picture with the Southern Little Potato.

I think the trip was an unforgettable experience for me.

Yours Tom

How to be a better teenager

Hello, everyone! Today I'd like to share my ideas about how to be a better teenager.

First of all, we should develop healthy living habits¹. We can run for half an hour every day to keep healthy². What's more, we should make a study plan³ and take actions to achieve it⁴. The more knowledge we learn, the brighter future we will have⁵. And we had better be friendly to others⁶. When others need help, we should try our best to help them⁷. Finally, it is good to take up good hobbies⁸ and take part in volunteer activities⁹, such as cleaning the city park¹⁰.

In a word, If we try our best, we will become better and better¹¹.

Thank you!

Dear Kevin,

How are you? I'd like to share a story with you.

Last Saturday, my classmate Wang Liang was patting the basketball on the street while he was walking past a shelf with lots of flower pots. Unfortunately, the basketball flew towards a pot so hard that the pot was broken into pieces. He stood there and thought about what to do for a moment. Then he put some money and a slip of paper under the pot which he broke just now. He apologised to the owner and left his mobile phone number.

I'm deeply touched by what he has done. I think he was honest and brave enough to pay for his action. He sets such a good example that we should learn from him. If everyone takes a simple step, our society will be better and better.

Do you have a story to tell? Hope to hear from you.

Yours,

Li Hua

Hello, everyone! I'm a student in Class 2, Grade 9. I am 15 years old. I like doing sports. But I used to hate doing sports. It was my mother who changed me. (能同可也)

Once I spent too much watching TV and playing computer games. So my grades were worse and worse. My mother noticed my changes. She had a long conversation with me. She said that spending too much on them was bad for my eyes. She advised me to relax by listening to music and doing sports. She asked me to run for an hour in the morning every day. A few days later, I found running could make me healthy and happy. I could do everything better.

In my opinion, when you meet some difficulties, you can share them with your parents or teachers. They will give you some useful advice.

There are always problems around us, even between close friends. Let me tell you something about myself.

Last Sunday, my best friend Lisa lost my favourite book that was a birthday present from my mother. The book is very meaningful for me. What's more, she didn't apologize to me about this, I felt quite sad. I love reading, because it can open up our eyes and increase our knowledge. I cherish every book of mine and they are my treasure.

So I am going to have a serious talk with Lisa in order to tell her my true feelings. I think we can buy a new one and read it together. In fact, understanding is the most important thing between friends.
